FRANKFORT HONORED.

Prof. John R. Proctor, of This City, Appointed a Civil Service Commissioner.

Prof. John R. Proctor, who was for a number of years Director of the State Geological Survey, during which time he made his home in this city, was on Wednesday appointed by the President as a member of the Civil Service Commission, to succeed Gen. George D. Johnson, of Louisiana. The appointment of Mr. Proctor, was a pleasant surprise to his friends here, and they congratulate him upon his elevation to so important a position. He is thoroughly qualified for the duties and will discharge them faithfully and well.

A Singular Find.

While making some improvements upon the property recently purchased by him, known as the "Sayre school house," in South Frankfort, Mr. Jas. A. Scott discovered a Greek grammar snugly tucked away in a rat's nest.

We always knew that rats conversed in some dead language or other that we have always been unable to interpret, but we did not know that it was necessary for their ratships to take a Greek grammar from which to teach their off-spring how to qualify their remarks to suit their paternal ears.

But this is not all that was disclosed by this find. It uncovered a romance of the long ago in which Kentucky's Senior Senator—our "Joe"—is "right smartly" interested.

It appears that the grammar was the property of the Hon. Joe Blackburn away back in the 50's, when he was having his intellectual faculties sharpened and trained by the prince of educators—Col. B. B. Sayre. It appears that in the hours when Joseph was supposed to be learning to conjugate the obstinate Greek verbs which the grammar contained, he was recording the fact that he was badly smitten with the charms of two of our most noted beautiful women who then were rollicking, laughing and flirting with the boys who crowded the benches of the famous Sayre school. The ladies are both now well settled in life and, no doubt, will hear with strange sensations this record of the past which is thus opened up.

The Old Arm Chair.

When Governor Buckner presided over the good old Commonwealth, he used a favorite chair in the Governor's office. Recently it was learned by a number of his friends in this city that the chair so used was about to be sold and a new one purchased for Governor Brown. They immediately arranged with the State Librarian, Mrs. Day, for the purchase of the old arm chair, and made a present of it to Governor Buckner, sending it to his home in Hart county, Glen Lily. In acknowledging the courtesy the grand old hero wrote a letter full of affectionate gratitude to the donors, from which we make the following extract:

"Its reception was as gratifying as it was unexpected. Indeed, the chief gratification we will now have in its reception will be the knowledge that we are held in such pleasant memory by those who have joined in adding so greatly to the value of the memento."

"While we can not adequately give expression to our appreciation of this act of friendship, we beg to assure you and the other signers of the kind letter that this act of their friendship is 'In our memory writ where every day we'll turn the leaf to read it.'"

It is safe to say that Kentucky never had a Governor who, with his charming family, was more deservedly popular with all classes of our people—Democrats, Republicans or Populists. Long may he live to be an honor to his State.

Manliness.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew has inaugurated at the Ascension Church a monthly service for men. On the first Sunday of last month, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Snively preached to a large congregation, addressing particularly Christian workers. On to-morrow, Sunday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p. m., the Rev. E. H. Ward, D. D., of Lexington, will preach to men in general on "Manliness."

Dr. Ward is one of the deepest thinkers and most forcible speakers in the church in Kentucky to day and it is expected that a large congregation will be present to hear him. Everybody is welcome.

Getting Monotonous.

Two weeks ago a stray bullet from a pistol, accidentally dropped on the street, touched the elbow of the ROUNDABOUT, giving him considerable of a shake up, and on Thursday night a ball fired from a policeman's pistol after a fleeing prisoner went wide and struck the side of the residence of the ROUNDABOUT family, entering the dining room and scattering plastering over the floor. Now this is beginning to get the least bit monotonous and we want to enter a protest against bullets flying around so promiscuously before we are wiped out entirely.

Will Help Matters.

The City Council has ordered a plank walk laid from Second street through the City School yard down to the ferry landing on the South Side, and will have electric lights erected on each bank of the river so that pedestrians will have plenty of light to assist them in keeping out of the mud and water.
